BOMB BLAST IN PITTSBURGH BANK KILLS TWO

EIGHT OTHERS IN BUILDING ARE BADLY HURT

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE IS DONE TO THE BANKING STRUCTURE

STRANGER DEMANDED $2,000, THEN HURLED THE BOMB INTO CROWD

Pittsburgh, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A terrific bomb explosion in the Farmers' bank building here this afternoon resulted in the death of two men, injury of eight other persons and extensive damage to the building.

W. E. Holmes, 51, who was injured in the blast, said he was in the corridor of the bank when he noticed a man walking toward the cashier's window with a satchel. Holmes said he then approached the man to ask what he could do for him and the stranger dropped the satchel and immediately a blast shook the building.

An unofficial statement issued by the bank said the blast was caused by the explosion of a bomb, hurled by a stranger who had demanded $2,000.

Those killed were the stranger with the bomb and a bank employee, bank officials reported.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 24.—A terrific blast ripped through the interior of the Farmers' bank building here this afternoon.

First reports by police said two persons were killed and eight injured.

The blast ripped through the interior of the building occupied by the Farmers' National bank and the Farmers' Savings and Deposit bank.

Hundreds of pedestrians were cut as the explosion shattered the huge plate glass windows into the street.

MISSING CONVICT FOUND AFTER 8 DAYS' SEARCH

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 24.—(UP)—After having been reported missing for eight days Clarence Langford, convict, was found hiding within the walls of the Stateville prison today.

He had been hiding, waiting an opportunity to escape and during the eight days had only two crusts of hard bread to eat. He had obtained water from a drain pipe which ran close to his hiding place.

When taken from the hiding place by deputy wardens Langford was near exhaustion. He also was suffering from a sprained ankle which he received when he made an unsuccessful attempt to scale the high prison walls.

2 WOUNDED IN GUNPLAY AFTER PARTY

Carroll, Ia., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Thomas Casey, 24, is dying in a hospital here of a bullet wound in his abdomen and Wilbur Green, colored, is in jail, charged with the shooting. The gunplay followed a drinking party Monday night.

NO BLAME ATTACHED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 24.—(UP)—No blame was attached to anyone for the death of Frank Pringle, of Edgerton, Wis., the coroner's office announced today. Pringle was killed in an automobile accident here two weeks ago.

LITTLE HOPE FOR WOUNDED BANKER

St. Croix Falls, Wis., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Little hope is held out for the recovery of H. A. Warner, president of the First State bank of White Bear lake, who was injured in an automobile accident in which Earnest Keller, of St. Cloud, Minn., was killed.

ROYAL PAIR OF BELGIUM IN AUTO ACCIDENT

London, Aug. 24.—(UP)—An Exchange Telegraph message from Paris said an automobile containing King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians today crashed against the parapet of a bridge at Calais, but that the royal pair were not injured and were able to continue their trip in a taxicab.

Deportation of Alien Bootleggers on Big Scale

10 MONTHS OLD BABY SPENDS NIGHT IN JAIL

Milwaukee, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Elvin Drutowski, 10 months old, spent last night in a cell at the county jail even though no charges had been lodged against him.

He was brought to the jail by officers to quiet his mother, who had become hysterical. Mrs. Drutowski, who had been arrested on a statutory charge, quieted down when the baby was brought to her.

HUMAN ELEMENTS IN QUESTION OF CRIME IN THE U. S.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, CHIEF JUSTICE, CONTINUES INTERVIEW GIVEN U. P.

SAYS MAUDLIN SENTIMENTALITY DEVELOPS INTO OBSTRUCTING PUBLIC SYMPATHY

The United Press today carries the second installment of the exclusive interview granted by Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the United States supreme court to Carl D. Groat, Washington manager of the United Press Association.

In yesterday's installment Mr. Taft discussed certain legal phases of the crime question which is creating intense interest throughout the country.

Today he speaks of some of the human elements in the situation.

Pointe au Pic, Murray Bay, Quebec, Aug. 24.—William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States supreme court, and the nation's only living ex-president, has little fear of "maudlin sentimentality" of the "weakly emotional" who "belong to the lunatic fringe of society" on the future of American justice.

Mr. Taft, in an exclusive interview with the United Press at his summer cottage here discussed the crime situation and the difficulties which confront the courts in coping with it—a question which now is drawing the serious consideration of public officials and private citizens.

"It is a common basis for complaint," he said, "that the maudlin sentimentality of many develops into an obstructing public sympathy for bloody-handed murderers who are brought to justice, leading to efforts to prevent the execution of sentences already pronounced."

"Such an exhibition as that recently shown in Buffalo when a murderer, since executed, was cheered because a jury disagreed, may well be cited as an instance."

"But I think the effect of such expressions of the weakly emotional may be exaggerated."

"They belong to the lunatic fringe of society. But if we can only get the murderers convicted and sentenced, I don't have any particular alarm about sending roses and cheers and apparent popular sympathy for those on their way to the penitentiary or the gallows."

The chief justice suggested that part of the crime wave of today "which fills the newspapers and discourages many people, must in some degree be attributed to the war as an aftermath," but he suggested that "does not explain it all."

While he did not take too seriously the maudlin sympathy complex, the chief justice suggested that there is, however, "real danger in a lack of a sense of proportion in associations and persons pressing legislators for measures which permit the parole of hardened criminals through appeals to boards and officers that are not subjected to public scrutiny. This, he suggested, is a challenge to public prosecutors who should represent the interests of society against any abuse of the parole and pardoning power."

"Then, too," continued the justice, "in an effort to avoid cruelty and to reform criminals by measures (Continued on page 5)

Cousin of Deposed King of Greece Offers Him Job In Confectionery Store, Mill City

T. K. PANGALOS MAKES OFFER IN ALL SINCERITY

WILLING TO GIVE DISTINGUISHED COUSIN HALF INTEREST IN BUSINESS

PANGALOS, DEPOSED DICTATOR, TO BE ISOLATED ON GREEK ISLAND

Minneapolis, Aug. 24.—(UP)—General Theodore Pangalos, deposed president of Greece, may have a half interest in a confectionery in Minneapolis if he wishes.

The offer is made in all sincerity by Thomas K. Pangalos, owner of the confectionery, a cousin of the former president and the only representative of the family in America, in anticipation that the revolutionists who overthrew General Pangalos' reign may banish him into exile.

For in the 15 months marking the ascendancy and decline of General Pangalos' power, his cousin was enacting a drama of American opportunity and earning the reward of industry and thrift.

Now while General Pangalos is a military prisoner, the cousin is a minor merchant prince, untouched by Greece's troubles.

Thomas does not envy his distinguished cousin.

"I would not want to be president of Greece," he told the United Press. "Give me my choice and I would rather be what I am. It is not as exciting, but it is a whole lot safer."

"I do not worry for General Pangalos. He is a great man. Tomorrow—next week—maybe he'll be the president again."

"But me—I would tell him not to be president. I would say to him 'Come to America.'"

Athens, Aug. 24.—Gen. Pangalos, who was deposed from the dictatorship of Greece in a bloodless revolution Sunday, probably will be exiled to the isolated island of Thera pending the formation of a special court to try his case.

Members of the Venizelist party today were urging Gen. Condylis who engineered Sunday's coup, to ask Venizelos to accept the presidency.

Charles Cooper is New Vice President of Telephone Company

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Charles Cooper, Cleveland, was named vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., today, following his resignation as president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Edwin P. Carter, St. Louis, was appointed Cooper's successor to head the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Cooper succeeds Edgar Bloom, now president of the Western Electric Co. Cooper is one of the youngest telephone executives in the country. He was elected president of the Ohio company in 1923 when 39 years of age.

LIFE INSURANCE FIGURES IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Aug. 24.—(UP)—The total amount of life insurance in force in Wisconsin at the close of 1925 was $1,439,805,285, for which the people of this state were paying approximately $1,000,000 a week in premiums, Olaf H. Johnson, state insurance commissioner, told agents of the Old Line Life Insurance Co. of America in convention here today. Claims paid during the same period aggregated nearly $10,000,000, he said.

WIFE OF FARMER WADING IN LAKE DROWNED SUDDENLY

Amelund, Minn., Aug. 24.—(UP)—While wading with friends in the St. Croix river, Mrs. Otto Ryberg, 39, wife of a farmer, stepped into a hole and drowned before help could reach her. The husband and two daughters survive.

LABOR DISPUTE GROWS EMBASSY BUILDING WORK

Washington, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A labor dispute with serious international complications threatened here today as a result of what organized labor feared was a plan to build the new British embassy with non-union labor.

Organized labor all over the country will boycott British goods unless union workers are employed, Henry Miller, chairman of the adjustment committee of the Central Labor Union, declared today.

Construction of the new building has not actually been started. A steam shovel was in operation at the site today, however, and the Central Labor Union charged it was manned by a non-union crew.

WISCONSIN'S ELECTION IS HOTLY CONTESTED

CANDIDATES MAKING EVERY EFFORT TO COMPLETE SPEAKING TOURS

READY FOR FINAL DRIVE FOR VOTES AT WISCONSIN STATE FAIR

By J. E. HELFERT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24.—Candidates in Wisconsin's hotly contested campaign, on stumping tours today, were making every effort to complete most of the speaking tours this week and be ready to make their final drive for votes at the Wisconsin fair in Milwaukee next week.

There is every indication that most of the candidates will spend much of their time next week in attendance at the state fair, where they will have an opportunity to come in close contact with a large number of voters.

While the prohibition question loomed as an important issue last week, the question has again been brought before the voters this week.

Frank J. Kelly, senatorial candidate for the republican nomination, is continuing his campaign on an out and out wet stand.

Thomas M. Kearney, Racine, democratic senatorial candidate, stressed in an address at Sheboygan last night that the prohibition law should be repealed.

Sen. Irvine L. Lenroot, candidate for re-election, scored his opponent, Gov. J. J. Blaine, on his stand on conservation, in an address at LaCrosse.

Gov. J. J. Blaine in an address at Plymouth rapped Sen. Lenroot for his "stand with the administration in the failure to bring Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, to trial."

At Elkhon Charles B. Berry, republican gubernatorial candidate, declared "Wisconsin taxes cannot be reduced until expenses are reduced."

Fred R. Zimmerman, gubernatorial candidate, told his listeners at Hartford that "the oil inspection department at Madison constitutes a total loss of about $100,000 per year to Wisconsin taxpayers."

Herman L. Ekern, gubernatorial candidate, spoke at North Fond du Lac and declared that by co-ordinating and harmonizing the work of the state boards and commissions, the number of laws, rules and regulations can be reduced to a minimum while economy and efficiency will be advanced.

CLAIM ILLEGAL LIQUOR ACTIVITIES STARTED ARGUMENT

St. Paul, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A quarrel over illegal liquor activities is believed to have been the cause of a shooting in which Charles Vadnais, 38, is alleged to have wounded his brother, Roy, 29, with buckshot. The wounded man's condition is not serious.

EARLY SETTLING OF RELIGIOUS WAR SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE

EPISCOPATE OF MEXICO TO STAND FIRM AGAINST COMPROMISE

PENDING FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS FROM POPE PIUS OF ROME

By A. W. FOLGER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, Aug. 24.—Early settlement of the religious controversy between church and state seemed impossible today. Hopes of immediate peace were removed by yesterday's statement of the Episcopate in which the church announced its intention to stand fast against all compromise pending further instructions from Pope Pius in Rome.

The priests and prelates, therefore, will not return to their churches, until Rome has instructed Archbishop Mora Del Rio with respect to civil registration of priests and regarding the legal procedure if any, to be adopted by the church to obtain reform of the religious laws. Whether Rome's instructions would permit the return of the priests could not be definitely known until the message was received.

After a meeting of the Episcopate yesterday, it was announced that the situation was unchanged after President Calles' conference with representatives of the church, and that suspension of services in the churches would remain in effect. It was officially stated that the pope's instructions had been requested by cable.

A United Press correspondent touring the states of Morelos, Guerrero and the southern part of the state of Mexico, found the people generally apathetic to the religious controversy.

BUSINESS TRAINING OF THE YOUNG FOR REAL SERVICE

Cook, Minn., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Congregational churches delegates of the Rainy River district in their annual convention here today heard a discussion on "training the young for service," led by the Rev. F. G. Schmidt of International Falls.

The two day convention ending tomorrow has "service" for a central theme.

The Rev. E. S. Shaw, delegate to the national council of Congregational churches, made his report in the morning on the achievements of the church.

"The African in transition," will be discussed tomorrow by the Rev. R. E. Phillips of Carleton college. Other speakers on Wednesday will consider the work of the church in home and foreign missionary fields.

MAYOR AS SPECIAL COP IS FIRED ON BY THREE NEGROES

Sharonville, O., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Mayor Harry McGrew suffered a slight scalp wound today as a result of a shooting fray, with three negroes he attempted to arrest.

One of the negroes was shot and seriously wounded by the mayor, after McGrew had been injured. The negro was arrested and gave his name as Hugh Vestal.

THRESHER CAUGHT IN MACHINE; INSTANTLY KILLED

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Robert Lung, 43, thresher, was almost instantly killed Monday while working on a farm near the village of Tanson.

The clothing of the thresher was caught in the machine and he was flung to his death. Lung is survived by a widow and four children.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OUTING FACES NEAR SHIPWRECK

Miami, Fla., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sixty-five persons on a Sunday school outing were rescued from the sinking yacht Seascope early today after it went aground at Virginia Key, off Miami harbor.

Coast guard cutters and a Miami Beach police speed boat rescued the party after calls for help were received at the Miami Beach government reservation.

The party was composed of members of the White Temple Sunday school.

STREAM OF TRIBUTES TO SCREEN HERO

MILLIONS SORROW OVER DEATH OF RUDOLPH VALENTINO

ALL NIGHT LONG CABLES AND TELEGRAMS POUR INTO NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Just beyond the theatrical district where the white way fades out and Broadway becomes a street of commerce, the body of Rudolph Valentino rested today, to receive the tribute of millions.

Yesterday this young Italian, who started life as a gardener and although he lived but 31 years, became one of the great motion picture idols of all time, died at a hospital here.

Hardly had the doctors pronounced him dead than the tribute to his memory began.

All night long cables came in from far parts of the world; telegrams brought other messages; but perhaps the greatest tribute was from the crowds which formed around the funeral parlors where the body was held, clamoring for one last look upon the dead.

Today all plans for Valentino's funeral rested with his motion picture managers who, in turn awaited word from Italy where his brother and sister live.

It was tentatively planned that Valentino's body should be permitted to lie in state, beginning perhaps this afternoon, that the followers and the friends of this greatest of all screen-lovers could pass by and offer their tribute.

The place of his final burial remains undetermined. His body may be sent back to the little town of Castelfranco, Italy, where he was born, or to Hollywood, the place where as Rudolph Valentino, he grew to world fame.

Valentino, in the week of his illness was far from the handsome figure of the screen. Morticians worked most of the night and today will have removed from the silent form the lines which suffering wrote upon the usually smiling face. Not until that is done will the public be permitted to view the body.

Through the dawn today a single policeman guarded the undertaker's parlors. He had remained from the 10 men needed earlier to handle the crowd. More policemen were to take his place when the morning traffic began.

It was 4 A. M. before the last groups at the doors broke up, and the policeman was left alone, except for an occasional night reveler.

George Ullman, Valentino's personal manager, by physicians' orders, remained in his room, with admittance denied to all.

At the actors' church just off Broadway, scores of theatrical folk knelt for a moment to offer a prayer for Rudy.

Yet with Rudolph Valentino dead the stern laws of the theatrical world worked relentlessly. Plays went on as usual last night.

And today the morning papers still carried the announcement that tonight will open Earl Carroll's Vanities—with seats up to $100 apiece.

Such is the tradition of the stage.

New York, Aug. 24.—Crowds milling in front of the undertaking parlors where the body of Rudolph Valentino rests got beyond control of police this afternoon and crashed

GEORGE REMUS MAY BE FIRST TO FEEL EFFECT

NEW WEAPON IN HANDS OF DRY CZAR, SECRETARY ANDREWS

DEPORTATION DRIVE WOULD VIRTUALLY END BOOTLEGGING BY ALIENS

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 24.—Deportation of bootleggers who are not citizens of the United States—an often discussed but so far unused weapon—may soon be attempted on a major scale.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews is expected to confer with labor department officials on deportation proceedings when he returns from his vacation.

Dry authorities said today that the effort to banish George Remus, convicted Cincinnati rum vendor, from America as undesirable, was only a forerunner of what might be expected to follow.

A deportation drive would virtually end bootlegging by aliens, prohibition officials believe. Few aliens will risk deportation despite the huge profits bootlegging offers, it was said.

Secretary of Labor Davis already has offered the dry czar full co-operation of immigration officials in law enforcement work and only details of putting the deportation weapon into service remain, it is understood.

COL. CARMI THOMPSON IN THE PHILIPPINES

Camp Keithley, Mindanao, P. I., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Provincial authorities intervened to prevent a clash between two factions of the sultan's followers when the status of the Moros was being discussed with Col. Carmi Thompson.

Some of the sultan's immediate followers favor independence of the Philippines and others favor a separate government for the Moros. Both factions became excited during the discussion and were quieted with difficulty.

Thompson has denied reports published in New York regarding his forthcoming report to President Coolidge.

These reports said he would oppose both early independence and the establishment of a separate government for the Moros.

BODY RECOVERED FROM RED RIVER

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 24.—(UP)—The body of a man which was recovered from the Red river after a three-day search has been buried here. The man is believed to have been Gorge Oja, of Superior, Wis. Sheriff Odin Overby who was patrolling the river in a motorboat, found the body.

The window broke under pressure rather than from a concerted rush. One policeman was painfully cut by the shattered glass and one man was badly cut about the ankles.

Just before the window was broken, two women fainted.

Mrs. Irene Larsen of New York, lost her eight-year-old daughter in the crush and she herself collapsed. Miss Ann Marie Paddy, and Miss May Canny, also of New York, fainted. All three were taken inside the undertaking parlors where a room was set apart to administer first aid.

Two women and one man were severely injured. Three other women collapsed and a policeman was slightly cut by shattered glass.

The injured were: Mrs. Dotty Jacobs, 28, both hands severely cut.

Mrs. Helen Berman, foot crushed when trampled by horse of mounted policeman who was trying to control the crowd.

Sam Avalon, photographer, feet badly cut by broken glass.

By 3:30 P. M. eleven persons had been injured by broken glass, by being trampled, crushed in the crowd, or had fainted.

CLAIM ILLEGAL LIQUOR ACTIVITIES STARTED ARGUMENT

St. Paul, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A quarrel over illegal liquor activities is believed to have been the cause of a shooting in which Charles Vadnais, 38, is alleged to have wounded his brother, Roy, 29, with buckshot. The wounded man's condition is not serious.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OUTING FACES NEAR SHIPWRECK

Miami, Fla., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sixty-five persons on a Sunday school outing were rescued from the sinking yacht Seascope early today after it went aground at Virginia Key, off Miami harbor.

Coast guard cutters and a Miami Beach police speed boat rescued the party after calls for help were received at the Miami Beach government reservation.

The party was composed of members of the White Temple Sunday school.

STREAM OF TRIBUTES TO SCREEN HERO

ALL NIGHT LONG CABLES AND TELEGRAMS POUR INTO NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Just beyond the theatrical district where the white way fades out and Broadway becomes a street of commerce, the body of Rudolph Valentino rested today, to receive the tribute of millions.

Yesterday this young Italian, who started life as a gardener and although he lived but 31 years, became one of the great motion picture idols of all time, died at a hospital here.

Hardly had the doctors pronounced him dead than the tribute to his memory began.

All night long cables came in from far parts of the world; telegrams brought other messages; but perhaps the greatest tribute was from the crowds which formed around the funeral parlors where the body was held, clamoring for one last look upon the dead.

Today all plans for Valentino's funeral rested with his motion picture managers who, in turn awaited word from Italy where his brother and sister live.

It was tentatively planned that Valentino's body should be permitted to lie in state, beginning perhaps this afternoon, that the followers and the friends of this greatest of all screen-lovers could pass by and offer their tribute.

The place of his final burial remains undetermined. His body may be sent back to the little town of Castellana, Italy, where he was born, or to Hollywood, the place where as Rudolph Valentino, he grew to world fame.

Valentino, in the week of his illness was far from the handsome figure of the screen. Morticians worked most of the night and today will have removed from the gilded form the lines which suffering wrote upon the usually smiling face. Not until that is done will the public be permitted to view the body.

Through the dawn today a single policeman guarded the undertaker's parlors. He had remained from the 10 men needed earlier to handle the crowd. More policemen were to take his place when the morning traffic began.

It was 4 A. M. before the last groups at the doors broke up, and the policeman was left alone, except for an occasional night reveler.

George Ullman, Valentino's personal manager, by physicians' orders, remained in his room, with admittance denied to all.

At the actors' church just off Broadway, scores of theatrical folk knelt for a moment to offer a prayer for Rudy.

Yet with Rudolph Valentino dead the stern laws of the theatrical world worked relentlessly. Plays went on as usual last night.

And today the morning papers still carried the announcement that tonight will open Earl Carroll's Vanities—with seats up to $100 apiece.

Such is the tradition of the stage.

New York, Aug. 24.—Crowds milling in front of the undertaking parlors where the body of Rudolph Valentino rests got beyond control of police this afternoon and crashed

GEORGE REMUS MAY BE FIRST TO FEEL EFFECT

NEW WEAPON IN HANDS OF DRY CZAR, SECRETARY ANDREWS

DEPORTATION DRIVE WOULD VIRTUALLY END BOOTLEGGING BY ALIENS

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Aug. 24.—Deportation of bootleggers who are not citizens of the United States—an often discussed but so far unused weapon—may soon be attempted on a major scale.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews is expected to confer with labor department officials on deportation proceedings when he returns from his vacation.

Dry authorities said today that the effort to banish George Remus, convicted Cincinnati rum vendor, from America as undesirable, was only a forerunner of what might be expected to follow.

A deportation drive would virtually end bootlegging by aliens, prohibition officials believe. Few aliens will risk deportation despite the huge profits bootlegging offers, it was said.

Secretary of Labor Davis already has offered the dry czar full co-operation of immigration officials in law enforcement work and only details of putting the deportation weapon into service remain, it is understood.

COL. CARMI THOMPSON IN THE PHILIPPINES

Camp Keithley, Mindanao, P. I., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Provincial authorities intervened to prevent a clash between two factions of the sultan's followers when the status of the Moros was being discussed with Col. Carmi Thompson.

Some of the sultan's immediate followers favor independence of the Philippines and others favor a separate government for the Moros. Both factions became excited during the discussion and were quieted with difficulty.

Thompson has denied reports published in New York regarding his forthcoming report to President Coolidge.

These reports said he would oppose both early independence and the establishment of a separate government for the Moros.

BODY RECOVERED FROM RED RIVER

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 24.—(UP)—The body of a man which was recovered from the Red river after a three-day search has been buried here. The man is believed to have been George Oja, of Superior, Wis. Sheriff Odin Overby who was patrolling the river in a motorboat, found the body.

The window broke under pressure rather than from a concerted rush.

One policeman was painfully cut by the shattered glass and another was badly cut about the ankles.

Just before the window was broken, two women fainted.

Mrs. Irene Larsen of New York, lost her eight-year-old daughter in the crush and she herself collapsed. Miss Ann Marie Paddy, and Miss May Canby, also of New York, fainted.

All three were taken inside the undertaking parlors where a room was set apart to administer first aid.

Two women and one man were severely injured. Three other women collapsed and a policeman was slightly cut by shattered glass.

The injured were: Mrs. Doty Jacobs, 28, both hands severely cut.

Mrs. Helen Berman, foot crushed when trampled by horse of mounted policeman who was trying to control the crowd.

Sam Avalon, photographer, feet badly cut by broken glass. By 3:30 P. M. eleven persons had been injured by broken glass, by being trampled, crushed in the crowd, or had fainted.

A man was sentenced to five years in prison for forging a will. As he passed through the prison gates to begin to serve his sentence he amazed prison officials by breaking into loud laughter. "I've just discovered," the forger explained, "that I'm the victim of a proverb. My plight illustrates the old saying, 'When there's a will there's a way.'"

Few Snakes in North

Snakes are extremely sensitive to cold. Many common North American snakes do not range much farther north than the Canadian border. Others stay south of the Ohio river. The range of the garter snake is known to extend northward to the region around Great Slave lake, and there are records of the appearance of this snake from the Yukon region. This snake has an exceptionally wide range.

First Baptist Aid

The ladies aid of the First Baptist church will be entertained in the lower rooms of the church on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. L. W. Thabes. Members are asked to come prepared to sew. A large attendance is desired. Visitors are welcome.

Discovered Something

A man was sentenced to five years in prison for forging a will. As he passed through the prison gates to begin to serve his sentence he amazed prison officials by breaking into loud laughter. "I've just discovered," the forger explained, "that I'm the victim of a proverb. My plight illustrates the old saying, 'When there's a will there's a way.'"

Few Snakes in North

Snakes are extremely sensitive to cold. Many common North American snakes do not range much farther north than the Canadian border. Others stay south of the Ohio river. The range of the garter snake is known to extend northward to the region around Great Slave lake, and there are records of the appearance of this snake from the Yukon region. This snake has an exceptionally wide range.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA MUSICIAN ON VISIT

G. R. Cook, Tuba Player, Played Piano at Park Opera House for Stock Company

HERE 16 YEARS AGO

During the Summer is Director of Mayo Brothers Band of Rochester, Minn.

G. R. Cook, tuba player of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, accompanied by his wife were Brainerd visitors this morning on their way to a visit with Mr. Cook's fellow musicians of the orchestra now on vacation at their summer resort near Pequot.

The orchestra men are located on a small lake which has been named Mayo Lake. Mr. Cook says that the lake was not named after the renowned physicians of that name.

Mr. Cook is during the summer time director of the Mayo Brothers band of Rochester, Minn., but appears with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at the fall, winter and spring engagements.

Besides being exceptionally talented on the tuba, he is also a pianist, having played in Brainerd at the opera house here 16 years ago with the Sherman Kelly Stock Co.

Discussing the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, the musician stated that the personnel during their home engagements included 85 talented musicians, the band being considered by many as the leading band orchestra in the United States.

During their spring tour which takes the orchestra all over the United States, the number dwindles to 50 men. The engagement of the orchestra for one evening's performance costs $1,800 while for matinee and evening the contract is for $2,- 500.

Sixteen musicians and soloists of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will appear at the Crow Wing county fair. They will donate their services.

FASHIONS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Costume designers are covetously keeping their Fall styles under cover, guarding their silhouettes as a mother hen guards her chicks. It is as difficult to see an original Fall model these days as it is to get into a Broadway theatre without a ticket. However, certain fashion ideas which are being hatched by several Parisian gown houses are already bursting from the shell.

Bloused bodices combined with slender-fitting skirts, for instance, will be among the new silhouettes.
There is a tendency towards more fullness above the hip-line and slender hemlines.

Skirts will be about four inches below the knee which means that they will be slightly longer than they have been.

Waist lines of many evening frocks of bloused variety dip at the rear and mount higher in front.
Young Misses' frocks show a raised waist line as where a narrow belt is placed almost at the normal waist line. The average waist line for Fall will be placed at the hip tops.

Sleeves remain long. Collars are small or entirely absent. Arm holes in some instances are cut very deep with the sleeve narrowing toward the wrist.

Tiered effects are prominent on skirts of dressy or semi-dressy type.
Fringe often forms the tier effect for Fall. Another skirt idea is the slender foundation with over panels.

Velvet and chiffon will predominate for evening while crepe-backed satins will be popular for afternoon wear. The leading Fall colors are Chanel red, greens ranging from emerald to bottle and silver tones, fushia, violet and wine shades, wood tones and black. Chanel red and wine shades will be extremely important during the early Fall.

As to hats, Beret tams continue as youthful types. Draped crowns rule almost invariably on mature models.
High peaked effects will be worn by matrons. Brims are not extremely wide and crowns are higher.

Balls Used in Voting

Voting by balls dates back to the time of the Greeks and Romans. A black ball was a vote against a candidate, a white one for him. This system was used in all political elections.
Our word "ballot" itself is from the French "ballotte," meaning a little ball.

Irish Situation

It was a wordy fight, and the little man with what looked like two pounds of sausage under his arm gave his parting shot. "The sooner," he said, emphatically, "that I never see your face again the better it will be for both of us when we meet."

Greek Irrigation Tried

Irrigationists in Australia are experimenting with a system used by the ancient Greeks in Theodosia, by which water for irrigation purposes was carried through sandstone pipes.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

Aug. 23, 1901

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gemmell left this afternoon for Mackinac Island where it is hoped the climate will cure Manager Gemmell's hay fever.

Mrs. F. W. McKay left this noon for St. Paul where she will be the guest of Mrs. W. C. Smith for a time.

Miss Carrie Morrison left this noon for Chicago. She expects to be gone for several weeks.

Capt. S. R. Adair stated this morning that he had made arrangements with the Aitkin management to have the team play a game with Brainerd on Sunday at Bemidji. The purse for $500 will not be played for but Co. F has hung up a prize of $25. The game will be an interesting one. The likelihood is now that there will be an unusually large attendance on the excursion. The train will stop at Kindred street,
East Brainerd, at the Mill, Merrifield, Pequot, Smiley, Jenkins, Pine River and Walker.

The deal was closed yesterday afternoon whereby the ownership of the Sloop-Atherton Block on Front street passes into the hands of Henry Spalding. The purchaser had secured an option on this property sometime ago and just before the time expired the deal was closed. This is one of the best paying blocks in the city. It is "L" shaped, the store room fronting Front street being occupied by McColl. The building which fronts on Fifth street is occupied by P. E. McCabe. Mr.
Spalding will not do anything with the two rooms at present, the tenants who are now in there having a lease for some time to come. It is understood the consideration for the property was $7,000.

L. L. Sartell reports that he met Cole Younger at Brainerd the other day, and Cole says he is meeting with great success in the tomb stone business, and sold over $500 worth in Brainerd one day.—St. Cloud Journal Press.

Scientific Runner

The pheasant runs in "good form," a track coach would say. He runs with his head extended downward to lessen air resistance, with the long tail carried straight behind like a rudder, and throws his feet forward with every step, reaching for distance, as does the trained athlete of the cinder path. But at flying he is only mediocre.—Detroit News.

The strawberry huller may be used to remove pin feathers from apples.
It may also be pressed into use to remove pin feathers from poultry.—Vir-

SAW SPANISH PRINCESS AT GAME

Mrs. A. Hagberg and Daughter of City at International Falls
Ball Game

PRINCESS IS INTRODUCED

20 Seats Reserved for Royal Party,
Sinclair Lewis and Other
Distinguished Guests

Mrs. A. Hagberg and daughter Miss Arlene have returned from a five week's visit in International Falls and while there had the great pleasure of seeing Princess Maria D'Bourbon of Spain who is a guest at the summer home of the Dahl-bergs. They were present at the Falls-Proctor baseball game, the former winning 9 to 5. Twenty seats were reserved for the royal party and the guests included Sinclair
Lewis, John O'Costa of New York City, captain of the Yale football team, and other notables.

The party occupied a place in the center of the grandstand and between the eighth and ninth innings, President Hadler of the baseball association introduced the members of the distinguished group, who responded by rising. Before the introduction of the Princess the Spanish national march was played followed by the Star Spangled Banner.
Capt. O'Costa unfortunately had injured his ankle and came to the game on crutches and was cheered and cheered by the crowds having to rise several times in response to the outburst.

Little Miss Marjorie Fulton, a playmate of Miss Hagberg in behalf of the baseball management was chosen to present a beautiful bou-quet of flowers to the Princess who responded in a few remarks in which she expressed her pleasure at being at her first American ball game.

The pretty little auburn haired Princess was dressed very simply in a purple outfit, and was "made up" as any American girl. She goes to town often and likes to meet the trains. She bought a pair of shoes at a local store, and the proprietors find it impossible to keep the kind in stock as they are besieged with requests for a pair of shoes "such as the Princess wears."

"1776" BIG FEATURE AT STATE FAIR

The great fireworks spectacle "1776", originally planned for the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial as one of its leading features, is to be staged at the Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition, September 4 to 11, as one of its biggest entertainment attractions. This mammoth spectacle depicts all the thrilling episodes in the War of the Revolution, including the signing of the Declaration of Independence, midnight ride of Paul Revere, and battles of Valley Forge and Yorktown. It is the most thrilling spectacle ever built.

Babies' Great Need

traordinarily bright child." Buggins —"Huh! I never saw an intelligent baby in my life." Muggins—"That's where you are wrong. All babies are intelligent. They have to be to understand the language their doting mothers talk to them."

Considerate

It has been estimated that a man in Paris who danced for 126 hours on end used sufficient energy to have typewritten a novel. It must be admitted, however, that by dancing he didn't tire anybody but himself.—Humorist.

Vast Arid Space

The boundaries of the Great American desert are vague. The outer limits are the Rockies and the continuing ranges in New Mexico and Texas on the east; the Sierra Nevadas and Cascade ranges on the west. The north and south limits are British Columbia and the Mexican boundary. Only a part of this area is actually arid waste land, comprising approximately 550,000 square miles.

Cheap Fish Food

Even the life of fish is influenced by electricity. A man with a Wisconsin trout hatchery suspends five-watt lamps over the pool to attract flies and bugs at night upon which trout grow fat and luscious at little expense to that hatchery owner.

Thousands of car owners in this city know the long-established reputation of these tires.

In fact, so faithful has been the quality of G & J Tires for nearly a quarter of a century, that they are spoken of everywhere as "Good Old G & J."

It is known among tire experts that G & J Tires have embodied all of the greatest improvements in tire building since 1902. In many cases they have led in advancements in the industry.

Today, G & J Tires are made in the most modern tire factory in the world—by the most modern manufacturing methods developed by science.

We are proud to stand behind a tire that gives the motorist the exceptional service of G & J. Mileage is built into every tire in the line, which includes a tire for every need.

The G & J Balloon Cord shown at the left is a balloon tire in the truest sense of the word. It is made of a cord fabric which is equalled in few tires for its ideal combi-

The leading Fall colors are Chanel red, greens ranging from emerald to bottle and silver tones, fuchsia, violet and wine shades, wood tones and black. Chanel red and wine shades will be extremely important during the early Fall.

As to hats, Beret tams continue as youthful types. Draped crowns rule almost invariably on mature models. High peaked effects will be worn by matrons. Brims are not extremely wide and crowns are higher.

Balls Used in Voting

Voting by balls dates back to the time of the Greeks and Romans. A black ball was a vote against a candidate, a white one for him. This system was used in all political elections. Our word "ballot" itself is from the French "ballotte," meaning a little ball.

Irish Situation

It was a wordy fight, and the little man with what looked like two pounds of sausage under his arm gave his parlay shot. "The sooner," he said, emphatically, "that I never see your face again the better it will be for both of us when we meet."

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

Aug. 23, 1901

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gemmell left this afternoon for Mackinac Island where it is hoped the climate will cure Manager Gemmell's hay fever. Mrs. F. W. McKay left this noon for St. Paul where she will be the guest of Mrs. W. C. Smith for a time.

Miss Carrie Morrison left this noon for Chicago. She expects to be gone for several weeks.

Capt. S. R. Adair stated this morning that he had made arrangements with the Aitkin management to have the team play a game with Brainerd on Sunday at Bemidji. The purse for $500 will not be played for but Co. F has hung up a prize of $25. The game will be an interesting one. The likelihood is now that there will be an unusually large attendance on the excursion. The train will stop at Kindred street, East Brainerd, at the Mill, Merrifield, Pequot, Smiley, Jenkins, Pine River and Walker.

The deal was closed yesterday afternoon whereby the ownership of the Sloop-Atherton Block on Front street passes into the hands of Henry Spalding. The purchaser had secured an option on this property some time ago and just before the time expired the deal was closed. This is one of the best paying blocks in the city. It is "L" shaped, the store room fronting Front street being occupied by McColl. The building which fronts on Fifth street is occupied by P. E. McCabe. Mr. Spalding will not do anything with the two rooms at present, the tenants who are now in there having a lease for some time to come. It is understood the consideration for the property was $7,000.

L. L. Sartell reports that he met Cole Younger at Brainerd the other day, and Cole says he is meeting with great success in the tomb stone business, and sold over $500 worth in Brainerd one day.—St. Cloud Journal Press.

But at flying he is only mediocre.—Detroit News.

SAW SPANISH PRINCESS AT GAME

Mrs. A. Hagberg and Daughter of City at International Falls Ball Game

PRINCESS IS INTRODUCED

20 Seats Reserved for Royal Party, Sinclair Lewis and Other Distinguished Guests

Mrs. A. Hagberg and daughter Miss Arlene have returned from a five week's visit in International Falls and while there had the great pleasure of seeing Princess Maria D'Bourbon of Spain who is a guest at the summer home of the Dahlgrens. They were present at the Falls-Proctor baseball game, the former winning 9 to 5. Twenty seats were reserved for the royal party and the guests included Sinclair Lewis, John O'Costa of New York City, captain of the Yale football team, and other notables.

The party occupied a place in the center of the grandstand and between the eighth and ninth innings, President Hadler of the baseball association introduced the members of the distinguished group, who responded by rising. Before the introduction of the Princess the Spanish national march was played followed by the Star Spangled Banner. Capt. O'Costa unfortunately had injured his ankle and came to the game on crutches and was cheered and cheered by the crowds having to rise several times in response to the outburst.

Little Miss Marjorie Fulton, a playmate of Miss Hagberg in behalf of the baseball management was chosen to present a beautiful bouquet of flowers to the Princess who responded in a few remarks in which she expressed her pleasure at being at her first American ball game.

The pretty little auburn haired Princess was dressed very simply in a purple outfit, and was "made up" as any American girl. She goes to town often and likes to meet the trains. She bought a pair of shoes at a local store and the proprietors find it impossible to keep the kind in stock as they are besieged with requests for a pair of shoes "such as the Princess wears."

An Important Announcement to Every Car Owner

WE are glad to announce that we have become distributors for the famous G & J line of automobile tires.

Thousands of car owners in this city know the long-established reputation of these tires.

In fact, so faithful has been the quality of G & J Tires for nearly a quarter of a century, that they are spoken of everywhere as "Good Old G & J."

It is known among tire experts that G & J Tires have embodied all of the greatest improvements in tire building since 1902. In many cases they have led in advancements in the industry.

Today, G & J Tires are made in the most modern tire factory in the world—by the most modern manufacturing methods developed by science.

We are proud to stand behind a tire that gives the motorist the exceptional service of G & J. Mileage is built into every tire in the line, which includes a tire for every need.

The G & J Balloon Cord shown at the left is a balloon tire in the truest sense of the word. It is made of a cord fabric which is equalled in few tires for its ideal combination of great strength and exceptional flexibility. Note the wide, flat tread which reduces wear per square inch and affords greater traction and anti-skid protection.

ANCESTRAL ORIGINS

THE St. Paul Pioneer Press carried an illuminating editorial on the much debated subject of our ancestral origins.

The United States is commonly referred to as an Anglo-Saxon country. That in a sense is true; but the Anglo-Saxonism of the United States can be stressed to a degree that is not only offensive to other racial strains in the American nation but demonstrably absurd.

Attempts are made to conceal the diminution of the Anglo-Saxon strain in this country by asserting that seventy per cent or more of the population traces its origin to Great Britain. This is nothing more than conjecture at best; a hollow boast at the worst. The census bureau in Washington is the place to which one naturally turns for confirmation of such an assertion; and the census bureau admits that it has no figures to confirm or refute it. Census enumerators are not required to ask the questions necessary to establish the racial derivations of the citizenry. Some years ago an analysis was prepared for the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace by the use of an arbitrary formula. This showed that approximately one-half the people in this country were of British or North Irish ancestry. Another formula might have produced a far different result. This sort of guesswork proves nothing.

The fact is Americans have become such a mixed people and the mixing process has been going on for so many generations that it is no longer possible accurately to determine what proportion of the blood in their veins can be claimed by this European nation and what by that; and nothing would be gained by determining it. The United States inherited from Great Britain the English language and the greater part of its legal and political institutions. These it has shaped to meet its needs and made its own. This is a debt which Americans can readily acknowledge, without injuring the sensibilities of other nations which have also contributed to the upbuilding of this country. As long as these institutions survive, Americans will feel a cultural kinship with Great Britain; a kinship which will outlive the preponderance of Anglo-Saxon blood in their veins.

The sooner the different racial streams which have flowed into the American nation cease to stress their sources and concentrate on the fact that there is being built up on this side of the Atlantic a new nation and a new race the sooner will they get away from that favoritism of particular nations abroad against which Washington warned his countrymen. The sooner, too, will the nations of Europe cease to look upon their nationals and their descendants in this country as so many citizens or subjects temporarily residing abroad, who can be depended on to come to their moral or physical support in the prosecution of old world feuds. The American nation got its raw material from Europe; but in the new environment provided by this detached continent and subject to new world stimuli this material is being molded into a political and racial entity distinct from each and all of the countries which have contributed to it.

WE BELIEVE TUNNEY WILL WIN

IN the coming battle between Gene Tunney and Dempsey, we believe Tunney will win. We saw Tunney's trip hammer punches put Bartley Madden to sleep at one of Captain Billy Fawcett's fight shows in Minneapolis. Tunney had bored around with body blows, weakening Madden until the final two punches flashed, one catching Madden amidships and the other hitting the point of Madden's chin. Madden's arms relaxed to his side, he turned on his heels, swayed and kissed the canvas, his head giving a resounding whack as it struck. Mr. Madden was down and out and unconscious for some time. It is said Tunney finished him off quickly, as he had to catch an early train to go back to New York.

If Gene Tunney has to catch any trains out of Philadelphia, it will shorten his battle with Jack Dempsey. Gene is publishing a series of copyrighted stories on what he thinks of Dempsey and he has kept track of the number of blows handed out by the champion. Gene admits that Dempsey has a lot of action, but he fails to see where any great damage is done in Dempsey's offensive.

For instance, Gene says Dempsey hit our Tommy Gibbons about 500 blows and could not floor him. He landed 100 punches on Willard and 150 on Carpentier and he didn't knock a single one of them to sleep.

Now Gene is no flashy fighter. As we have the fight sized up, Tunney will play for Dempsey's body and after wearing him out, will put in two of his steam drill, trip hammer punches that travel about four to six inches and Mr. Dempsey will be down and out. Yep, the Marines are a safe bet in war or peace times, on land or on sea.

PEOPLE TAKE A PAPER TO GET THE NEWS

THE primary purpose of a newspaper is to get news and print it, the newspaper thus becoming a mirror revealing the news happenings of the community. But there is one qualification regarding news, and that is the selection of news that is fit to print.

Court records, being established in black and white, furnish copy for all newspapers and court records, by the way, are open for the inspection of all citizens.

In its records of daily transfers, for instance, THE DISPATCH publishes the records of transfers of realty, but does not publish lists of realty or chattel mortgages, assignments or garnishments. Court actions of general interest are published and these include the municipal court docket and its various cases. Brainerd being the county seat, one finds filed at the court house the various actions brought in the district court. A newspaper would show poor investigating ability if it did not keep tab of cases filed, of decrees entered in open court or chambers.

Brainerd people take THE DISPATCH to get the news.

THE Hall-Mills murder case always does seem to have a lot of politics mixed up in it.

THE Little Falls Daily Transcript flashes new type in its headlines.

"Don Juan," screen play by Bess Meredyth, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Don Juan's disillusioned father had warned him: "Destroy women or they will destroy you; take their love scornfully—and forget!" This advice has made Juan the greatest lover of all time. But his cynicism is suddenly checked by the disarming innocence of Madonna-like Adriana Varanese. The lovers incur the fearful enmity of infamous Lucretia Borga, who loves Juan, and Donati, her kinsman, who covets Adriana. To save her father's life Adriana agrees to marry Donati, but when Duke Varanese is dragged to the Vatican to sign the agreement Donati breaks into Adriana's room.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

There Donati stood with his feet wide apart, his hands on his hips, watching her go, thinking of how easily he would reach her and catch her up in his arms, holding her close, pressing his lips to the white, smooth curve of her throat. There were all the still night hours in which to conquer her. He need not hasten. And it was amusing to see her trying to face him courageously, with terror in her wide dark eyes.

Adriana's lips moved. She was murmuring a prayer. Surely the Virgin would protect her, would somehow save her from this fate that was far worse than death.

Her terror made her weak; she could hardly stand. All her strength went into that whispered prayer, and Donati, realizing what she was doing, smiled more broadly than ever.

In the hall below there was suspense almost as great. For Juan was there questioning the servants. Not daring to tell him the truth, they swore that Adriana was not in the house, fear of Donati had torn their loyalty to shreds. Knowing that they were lying, Juan thought at first of fighting his way through their ranks and up the stairs; then another plan came to him, and he strode from the house.

Juan did not even try to defend himself.

In the courtyard he stood for a moment, looking about him. Donati's horse was tethered to one of the great metal rings fastened into the wall. On its blanket was embroidered Donati's initials: Juan traced them with his finger, even as he laid his plans. He turned to study the side of the house.

And through one of the long windows he saw Adriana in Donati's arms.

For an instant he was almost mad with anger. Then reason forced him to stop and think. After all, what he at once suspected might not be true. New realization of her purity and loveliness swept over him. He fought down the inclination to rush away, and instead turned, crossed the courtyard, and began to climb the wall, instinctively finding footholds in the crevices between the great stones.

In the room above Donati stood staring down at Adriana, who lay back, almost fainting, in his arms. He had pursued her across the room, had fought down her resistance, and now stood gloating as he held her limp body. The brocade had fallen from her shoulders; their rounded bareness was like that of some exquisite statue.

Juan's mad haste was needless, and the edges of the great stones crumbled beneath his feet. Bits of stone fell to the courtyard, and the sound brought Adriana back to consciousness, and made Donati turn toward the nearest window, his own face like that of a snarling animal whom someone wishes to rob of its prey.

He knew that it must be Juan; in fact, he had been expecting him. Adriana felt that her prayer had been answered; that it might be Juan who was coming she did not suspect. She would have cried out to this unknown rescuer, but Donati shook her threateningly.

"If you betray me by a look or sign I'll kill this intruder!" he threatened, and the cruelty of his face left no doubt in her mind that he meant it.

Releasing her, he laid one hand on the hilt of his sword, and backed slowly toward the curtains concealing a small alcove, barely a niche in the wall. Adriana watched him, terrified. Only when a sound came from the balcony did she turn away.

The long windows opened slowly. Juan stood between them, staring at her, unbelievably.

To him it seemed that her delicate face was pale because of her guilt; he thought that it was because of shame that she trembled, never dreaming that terror was the cause.

His eyes searched the room, came back to her.

"Where is he?" he demanded.

Behind the curtains stood Donati, his sword drawn. Knowing that he was only waiting for an opportunity to spring upon Juan from his hiding place, which she could see as she turned to watch Juan as he walked about the room, Adriana stood horrified. She could see the outline of Donati's sword as it pressed against the curtains.

"Where is he?" again demanded Juan. Adriana shook her head, trying to smile. At first she could not control her voice enough to speak; finally she managed to reply to him.

"There is no one here," she told him. "Please—oh, I beg of you, please go!"

It was then that Juan felt sure that his suspicions were based on truth. He fought the conviction. Surely she was not like all other women—surely she was all that he had believed her to be. And yet—here she was, like the others, hiding her lover, lying about him.

Wildly he asked her over and over again, "Where is he? Where is he?" She would not meet his eyes, would not say anything but "Please leave me," and insist that there was no one there.

He surveyed the room. There was but one hiding place, behind the heavy curtains of the furthest wall. He started toward them, but Adriana ran before him, and stood with outstretched arms, barring his way.

No physical wound could have made him suffer as did this action of hers. It was agony to see her standing there, begging him to go, swearing that there was no one else in the room but they two.

Even as she spoke the curtains moved slightly. He followed their movement to the floor. A man's foot protruded slightly from beneath the curtain's edge.

A hideous feeling of sickness swept over Juan. As if a curtain had been unrolled to show him another scene, he saw the tower room in his father's castle, when he himself had sat, a little child, watching while another man questioned another woman—while his father questioned his mother, who replied, as this girl was doing now, "There is no one here! I swear there is no one here!"

And suddenly, instead of his mother, he saw Adriana as she faced him, beautiful, innocent seeming, lying, as his mother had lied, to save her lover.

The cry that parted his lips was one of rage, and of hatred. With a sudden, swift movement he leaped forward and tore down the curtains, revealing Donati, standing with drawn sword.

Then, as if possessed by demons, he began to laugh like a maniac, harsh, mad laughter that echoed in the lofty room.

"I believed in a woman's goodness, in her purity and loyalty!" he cried, and his voice broke on the words. "Laugh—for I am the fool of Rome!"

"Juan! Juan!" Adriana cried, and would have thrown her arms about him, but he thrust her back.

He was himself again suddenly, the self he had been before he knew and loved her. His smile was bitter, sardonic, his voice cold.

ACCUSED OF KILLING FAMILY, 18 ARRESTED

Eighteen members of the Pagisi family were slain with bolos and prosecution officials say that a number of Jose's relatives were implicated.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

JACK DEMPSEY

Next to fighting, Jack Dempsey likes dogs, and his favorite pastime is adding to his kennel, and scuffling with his canine pets.

The Dempsey dog-stable resembles a public pound, with its multiple variety of canines, from stray cross-breeds to pedigreed pugs and aristocratic Pekinese.

The champion's sympathy for dogs is Mrs. Dempsey's greatest burden, because he gives refuge to all the stray curs he encounters. This predilection is offset, however, by Dempsey's tolerance towards the wife's three Pekinese, a species he likes the least.

The champion loves the rugged scrappier type of dog. He has an English pug, a Great Dane, and a Llewellyn Setter, expensively bred, that are his favorites.

SALAD DRESSING KING FACES MARITAL TROUBLE

Milwaukee, Aug. 24.—(UP)—With the death of Mrs. John F. Howard, Milwaukee, second wife of John F. Howard, 72, salad dressing king of Haverhill, Mass., a $125,000 suit pending in Wisconsin courts against the Milwaukee woman will be ended.

Mrs. Howard, widow of Frank B. Philipp, formerly head of the Philipp Lithographing Co., Milwaukee, died Sunday in Mexico, just as she was about to be summoned before the American consul at Mexico City for further questioning under discovery statute in the damage action, which was started April 28 in Milwaukee circuit court by Mrs. Margaret Howard, alleged divorced wife of the Haverhill manufacturer.

Mrs. Howard in her suit alleged the Milwaukee widow had "enticed" Howard to Mexico City where he had obtained a divorce from his wife of 33 years to marry the widow. Mrs. Howard filed suit on the grounds that the Mexican divorce and marriage were illegal.

According to reports here death of Mrs. Philipp Howard was caused by double pneumonia and spinal meningitis.

The romance which united the Milwaukee widow and the Massachusetts millionaire was thought to have begun in Venice when they both were touring Europe.

Prayed Through Hats

Health—A Live Subject At Afternoon Teas

IT is under such circumstances that experiences are exchanged and women tell one another what treatments have been of most benefit to them.

It is a pretty safe guess that in these tete-a-tetes no medicine is so frequently mentioned as Dr. Chase's Tonic Pills and there is a very good reason why.

Any physician will tell you that most of the ailments which most bother women are due to lowered vitality.

In these days of surgical specialists the operation is too frequently the first thing recommended, whereas, in many cases, restored vitality would enable nature to restore the natural functions to the deranged organs.

Lowered vitality may come from the strain of irregular hours, loss of rest and sleep, too much excitement or worry.

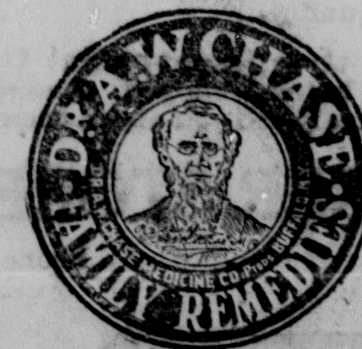

It may also result from lack of proper nourishment, from over-eating or from sedentary habits.

When vitality runs low there is no end to the troubles that may arise and you are an easy prey to colds, pneumonia and all sorts of germ diseases.

Restorative treatment is demanded and because Dr. Chase's Tonic Pills have proven to be the greatest of restoratives of the blood and nerve force is why they are so greatly appreciated by women everywhere.

Put these popular restoratives to the test when you find yourself nervous, irritable and sleepless, or suffer from indigestion, headaches or tired, depressed feelings.

You will soon be convinced of their merits and will realize then why so many thousands of women find a joy in telling their friends of benefits received.

It is said Tunney finished him off quickly, as he had to catch an early train to go back to New York.

If Gene Tunney has to catch any trains out of Philadelphia, it will shorten his battle with Jack Dempsey. Gene is publishing a series of copyrighted stories on what he thinks of Dempsey and he has kept track of the number of blows handed out by the champion. Gene admits that Dempsey has a lot of action, but he fails to see where any great damage is done in Dempsey's offensive.

For instance, Gene says Dempsey hit our Tommy Gibbons about 500 blows and could not floor him. He landed 100 punches on Willard and 150 on Carpenter and he didn't knock a single one of them to sleep.

Now Gene is no flashy fighter. As we have the fight sized up, Tunney will play for Dempsey's body and after wearing him out, will put in two of his steam drill, trip hammer punches that travel about four to six inches and Mr. Dempsey will be down and out. Yep, the Marines are a safe bet in war or peace times, on land or on sea.

PEOPLE TAKE A PAPER TO GET THE NEWS

THE primary purpose of a newspaper is to get news and print it, the newspaper thus becoming a mirror revealing the news happenings of the community. But there is one qualification regarding news, and that is the selection of news that is fit to print.

Court records, being established in black and white, furnish copy for all newspapers and court records, by the way, are open for the inspection of all citizens.

In its records of daily transfers, for instance, THE DISPATCH publishes the records of transfers of realty, but does not publish lists of realty or chattel mortgages, assignments or garnishments. Court actions of general interest are published and these include the municipal court docket and its various cases. Brainerd being the county seat, one finds filed at the court house the various actions brought in the district court. A newspaper would show poor investigating ability if it did not keep tab of cases filed, of decrees entered in open court or chambers.

Brainerd people take THE DISPATCH to get the news.

THE Hall-Mills murder case always does seem to have a lot of politics mixed up in it.

THE Little Falls Daily Transcript flashes new type in its headlines.

"Don Juan," screen play by Bess Meredyth, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Don Juan's disillusioned father had warned him: "Destroy women or they will destroy you; take their love scornfully—and forget!" This advice has made Juan the greatest lover of all time. But his cynicism is suddenly checked by the disarming innocence of Madonna-like Adriana Varanese. The lovers incur the fearful enmity of infamous Lucretia Borgia, who loves Juan, and Donati, her kinsman, who covets Adriana. To save her father's life Adriana agrees to marry Donati, but when Duke Varanese is dragged to the Vatican to sign the agreement Donati breaks into Adriana's room.

There Donati stood with his feet wide apart, his hands on his hips, watching her go, thinking of how easily he would reach her and catch her up in his arms, holding her close, pressing his lips to the white, smooth curve of her throat. There were all the still night hours in which to conquer her; he need not hasten. And it was amusing to see her trying to face him courageously, with terror in her wide dark eyes.

Adriana's lips moved. She was murmuring a prayer. Surely the Virgin would protect her, would somehow save her from this fate that was far worse than death. Her terror made her weak; she could hardly stand. All her strength went into that whispered prayer, and Donati, realizing what she was doing, smiled more broadly than ever.

In the hall below there was suspense almost as great. For Juan was there questioning the servants. Not daring to tell him the truth, they swore that Adriana was not in the house, fear of Donati had torn their loyalty to shreds. Knowing that they were lying, Juan thought at first of fighting his way through their ranks and up the stairs; then another plan came to him, and he strode from the house.

Juan did not even try to defend himself.

In the courtyard he stood for a moment, looking about him. Donati's horse was tethered to one of the great metal rings fastened into the wall. On its blanket was embroidered Donati's initials; Juan traced them with his finger, even as he laid his plans. He turned to study the side of the house.

And through one of the long windows he saw Adriana in Donati's arms.

For an instant he was almost mad with anger. Then reason forced him to stop and think. After all, what he at once suspected might not be true. New realization of her purity and loveliness swept over him. He fought down the inclination to rush away, and instead turned, crossed the courtyard, and began to climb the wall, instinctively finding footholds in the crevices between the great stones.

In the room above Donati stood staring down at Adriana, who lay back, almost fainting, in his arms. He had pursued her across the room, had fought down her resistance, and now stood gloating as he held her limp body. The brocade had fallen from her shoulders; their rounded bareness was like that of some exquisite statue.

Juan's mad haste was needless, and the edges of the great stones crumbled beneath his feet. Bits of stone fell to the courtyard, and the sound brought Adriana back to consciousness, and made Donati turn toward the nearest window, his own face like that of a snarling animal whom someone wishes to rob of its prey.

He knew that it must be Juan; in fact, he had been expecting him. Adriana felt that her prayer had been answered; that it might be Juan who was coming she did not suspect. She would have cried out to this unknown rescuer, but Donati shook her threateningly.

"If you betray me by look or sign I'll kill this intruder!" he told her, and the cruelty of his face left

no doubt in her mind that he meant it.

Releasing her, he laid one hand on the hilt of his sword, and backed slowly toward the curtains concealing a small alcove, barely a niche in the wall. Adriana watched him, terrified. Only when a sound came from the balcony did she turn away.

The long windows opened slowly. Juan stood between them, staring at her, unbelievably.

To him it seemed that her delicate face was pale because of her guilt; he thought that it was because of shame that she trembled, never dreaming that terror was the cause.

His eyes searched the room, came back to her.

"Where is he?" he demanded.

Behind the curtains stood Donati, his sword drawn. Knowing that he was only waiting for an opportunity to spring upon Juan from his hiding place, which she could see as she turned to watch Juan as he walked about the room, Adriana stood horrified. She could see the outline of Donati's sword as it pressed against the curtains.

"Where is he?" again demanded Juan. Adriana shook her head, trying to smile. At first she could not control her voice enough to speak; finally she managed to reply to him.

"There is no one here," she told him. "Please—oh, I beg of you, please go!"

It was then that Juan felt sure that his suspicions were based on truth. He fought the conviction. Surely she was not like all other women—surely she was all that he had believed her to be. And yet—here she was, like the others, hiding her lover, lying about him.

Wildly he asked her over and over again, "Where is he? Where is he? She would not meet his eyes, would not say anything but 'Please leave me,' and insist that there was no one there."

He surveyed the room. There was but one hiding place, behind the heavy curtains of the furthest wall. He started toward them, but Adriana ran before him, and stood with outstretched arms, barring his way.

No physical wound could have made him suffer as did this action of hers. It was agony to see her standing there, begging him to go, swearing that there was no one else in the room but they two.

Even as she spoke the curtains moved slightly. He followed their movement to the floor. A man's foot protruded slightly from beneath the curtains' edge.

A hideous feeling of sickness swept over Juan. As if a curtain had been unrolled to show him another scene, he saw the tower room in his father's castle, when he himself had sat, a little child, watching while another man questioned another woman—while his father questioned his mother, who replied, as this girl was doing now, "There is no one here! I swear there is no one here!"

And suddenly, instead of his mother, he saw Adriana as she faced him, beautiful, innocent seeming, lying, as his mother had lied, to save her lover.

The cry that parted his lips was one of rage, and of hatred. With a sudden, swift movement he leaped forward and tore down the curtains, revealing Donati, standing with drawn sword.

Then, as if possessed by demons, he began to laugh like a maniac, harsh, mad laughter that echoed in the lofty room.

"I believed in a woman's goodness, in her purity and loyalty!" he cried, and his voice broke on the words. "Laugh—for I am the fool of Rome!"

"Juan! Juan!" Adriana cried, and would have thrown her arms about him, but he thrust her back.

He was himself again, suddenly, the self he had been before he knew and loved her. His smile was bitter, sardonic, his voice cold.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

JACK DEMPSEY

Next to fighting, Jack Dempsey likes dogs, and his favorite pastime is adding to his kennel, and scuffling with his canine pets.

The Dempsey dog-stable resembles a public pound, with its multiple variety of canines, from stray cross-breeds to pedigreed pugs and aristocratic Pekinese.

The champion's sympathy for dogs is Mrs. Dempsey's greatest burden, because he gives refuge to all the stray curs he encounters. This predilection is offset, however, by Dempsey's tolerance towards the wife's three Pekinese, a species he likes the least.

The champion loves the rugged scrapper type of dog. He has an English pug, a Great Dane, and a Jewellin Setter, expensively bred, that are his favorites.

MARITAL TROUBLE

Milwaukee, Aug. 24.—(UP)—With the death of Mrs. John F. Howard, Milwaukee, second wife of John F. Howard, 72, salad dressing king of Haverhill, Mass., a $125,000 suit pending in Wisconsin courts against the Milwaukee woman will be ended.

Mrs. Howard, widow of Frank B. Philipp, formerly head of the Philipp Lithographing Co., Milwaukee, died Sunday in Mexico, just as she was about to be summoned before the American consul at Mexico City for further questioning under discovery statute in the damage action, which was started April 28 in Milwaukee circuit court by Mrs. Margaret Howard, alleged divorced wife of the Haverhill manufacturer.

Mrs. Howard in her suit alleged the Milwaukee widow had "enticed" Howard to Mexico City where he had obtained a divorce from his wife of 33 years to marry the widow. Mrs. Howard filed suit on the grounds that the Mexican divorce and marriage were illegal.

According to reports here death of Mrs. Philipp Howard was caused by double pneumonia and spinal meningitis.

The romance which united the Milwaukee widow and the Massachusetts millionaire was thought to have begun in Venice when they both were touring Europe.

Prayed Through Hats

Sixty years ago it was customary for men in certain parts of Great Britain, on entering a church, to stand holding their headgear before their faces and to utter a preliminary prayer "through their hats," instead of kneeling in the more orthodox manner, says the Dearborn Independent.

Health—A Live Subject At Afternoon Teas

IT is under such circumstances that experiences are exchanged and women tell one another what treatments have been of most benefit to them.

It is a pretty safe guess that in these tete-a-tetes no medicine is so frequently mentioned as Dr. Chase's Tonic Pills and there is a very good reason why.

Any physician will tell you that most of the ailments which most bother women are due to lowered vitality.

In these days of surgical specialists the operation is too frequently the first thing recommended, whereas, in many cases, restored vitality would enable nature to restore the natural functions to the deranged organs.

Lowered vitality may come from the strain of irregular hours, loss of rest and sleep, too much excitement or worry.

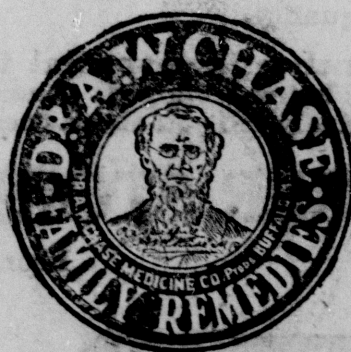

It may also result from lack of proper nourishment, from over-eating or from sedentary habits.

When vitality runs low there is no end to the troubles that may arise and you are an easy prey to colds, pneumonia and all sorts of germ diseases.

Restorative treatment is demanded and because Dr. Chase's Tonic Pills have proven to be the greatest of restoratives of the blood and nerve force is why they are so greatly appreciated by women everywhere.

Put these popular restoratives to the test when you find yourself nervous, irritable and sleepless, or suffer from indigestion, headaches or tired, depressed feelings.

You will soon be convinced of their merits and will realize then why so many thousands of women find a joy in telling their friends of benefits received.

ACCUSED OF KILLING FAMILY, 18 ARRESTED

Aparri, Luzon, P. I., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Accused of exterminating an entire family to avenge an alleged plot, 18 persons, including several municipal officials, have been arrested at Catarman.

When Miguel Jose, president of the village, became ill recently he suspected members of the Pagisi family of poisoning him. He called a group of relatives together and offered a large reward for the complete extermination of the suspected family, officials say.

Eighteen members of the Pagisi family were slain with bolos and prosecution officials say that a number of Jose's relatives were implicated.

"MAN OF MANY CRIMES" FACES STERN JUSTICE

TOM JOHNSON TO HAVE ASSISTANCE OF FATHER, JUDGE JOHN JOHNSON

LATTER WILL OUTLINE LEGAL COURSE FOR THE DEFENSE

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Tom Johnson, "the man of many crimes," is to have the assistance of his father, Judge John Johnson, of Salmon Arms, B. C., in whatever legal course is outlined for him.

Agreement to come to Minneapolis was contained in a telegram on Monday from the elder Johnson to L. L. Longbrake, public defender.

Whether Johnson will plead insanity has not been decided.

Meanwhile, Johnson is in solitary confinement, placed there at his own request because he said he "wants to kill some more," and kept there because officials believed it best to isolate him.

However, Johnson pleads to go back to the bull pen, saying the desire to kill has passed.

WANT LENROOT TO MAKE DEFINITE STATEMENT TO VOTERS

Milwaukee, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, candidate for reelection, is to be given another chance to make a "definite" statement on the prohibition question. This was the statement made public here today by Dr. J. J. Seelman, vice president of the national organization of the Association Against the Prohibition and president of the Wisconsin division.

Sen. Lenroot over the indorsement of the association of Gov. Blaine for United States senator, Dr. Seelman has called a meeting of the executive committee for today to discuss the entire matter fully.

If Sen. Lenroot will say that he will support a 2% per cent beer bill, the association will withdraw its opposition to him. But if he refuses to make a statement or makes an adverse statement the association, Dr. Seelman said, "will use its influence to defeat Sen. Lenroot."

The endorsement of Gov. Blaine, according to Dr. Seelman, was based on Sen. Lenroot's record and that of the governor and was in accordance with the association's resolution adopted in January to back real liberals regardless of political affiliations.

DELICATE PLASTIC SURGERY WORK

PERFORMED TODAY ON FACE OF DARBY DAY, JR., YOUNG MILLIONAIRE

Chicago, Aug. 24.—(UP)—The most delicate of plastic surgery operations was to be performed today on the face of Darby Day, Jr., 23-year-old millionaire, and if successful, may lead to the liberation from prison of Mrs. Bernice L. Day, his "acid throwing" wife.

Dr. Henry J. Schireson, famous plastic surgeon, grafted a new layer of skin on the face of Day last Thursday and today the stitches will be removed—possibly removing all traces of the ugly scars caused by acids thrown by his young wife, in a fit of rage.

Day has high hopes the operation will be successful and with the scars removed, intends to go to California to seek a pardon for his wife, who recently started a one to fourteen years' sentence in California for the attack.

OVER-PRODUCTION AFFECTS EMPLOYMENT

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Over-production is the cause of unemployment in many trades and must be stopped, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor said here during a visit to President Coolidge.

Green said unemployment ranges from 10 to 25 per cent in the textile, soft coal, shoe and hosiery industries. It is the result, he said, of over-production and speeded up machinery.

"We will attempt to bring down production as situations demand," he said.

"This can be done by shorter hours."

of encouragement, reformers forget that the chief end of punishment is to protect society by deterring others from committing crimes and it destroys the main object to change a penitentiary into a free boarding house with all sorts of entertainment. It robs punishment of its character as such and leads criminals to think that they will not suffer for law breaking.

Despite the situation he pictured, Mr. Taft is optimistic for the future and he observed in conclusion:

"But all of this is now under investigation. Reforms are contemplated, able commissions are at work, the public is aroused and I look for great improvement in all the directions I have indicated."

Mr. Taft's health now is such that he can take daily automobile rides or brief walks besides doing his work on briefs for the supreme court. He occasionally visits the golf club but has not played for two years as heart trouble prohibits it.

He enjoys reading and not all of his reading has to do with the law. As I entered his cottage he was deep in a detective story—I believe the author was Buchan.

Mr. Taft is looking forward to seeing all of the Taft family gathered here in September.

Taft's cottage is neatly decorated and his study and big living room with cozy fireplace bear signs of his long career, including relics of his days in the Philippines and pictures reminiscent of his presidential days, his war board days and his court positions.

Taft is at work early each day with his secretary and then rests, resuming his work in the afternoon. He told me he was feeling quite fit now and laughed at reports published in the United States that he was seriously failing. He said that his lecture tours after he left the presidency apparently had laid the foundation for heart trouble as the tours involved much travel and considerable strain.

But with care the indications are Mr. Taft will live to a much riper age.

His spirit certainly remains young and optimistic.

"WHOLESALE CHEATING" CHARGED IN STATE BAR EXAMINATION

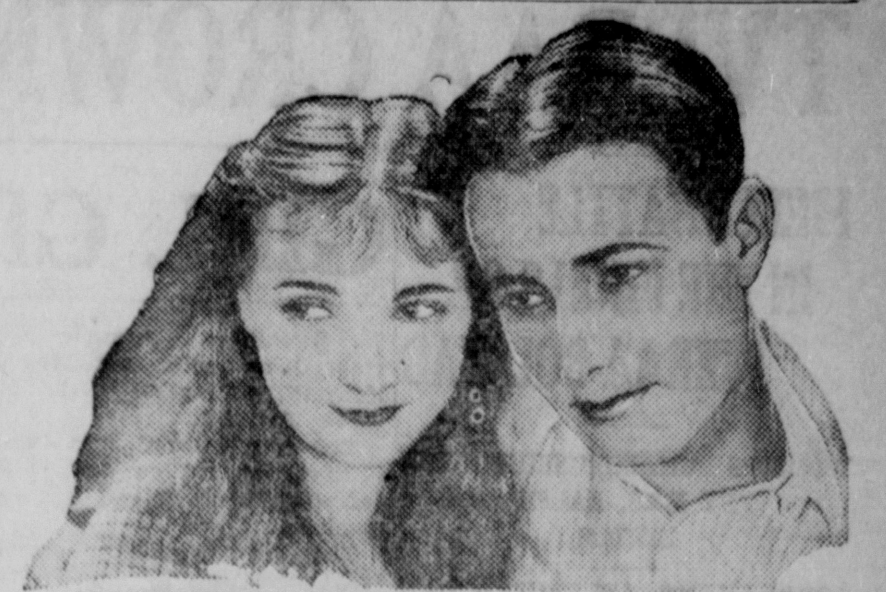

Madison, Wis., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Reopening of the probe into charges of "wholesale cheating" at a recent state bar examination here, after a delay of several days, yesterday brought direct accusations of "cribbing" against certain of the bar candidates subpoenaed, one of the number admitted following his appearance before Phil LaFollette, district attorney, who is directing the probe.

Because of a similarity in answers the district attorney's accusations were directed not only at him but also at others whose papers written during the examination showed any sameness, the law student said.

He declared that two others accused with him were from two different law schools other than that which he attended and that they were strangers to him at the time of the examination.

Several of the students subpoenaed yesterday talked freely of "unlimited opportunity to cheat" offered by the law examining board in the wrong distribution of its questions.

They charged that the examiners passed out questions for a morning examination by mistake on the previous afternoon attempting to collect them when they discovered their errors some minutes later. Two of these sets, they charged, were not collected and the candidates holding them, possibly unknowingly wrote

Duluth, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A coroner's jury today found Floyd H. Guilford, driver of the automobile which struck and killed Mrs. Frederick Tuomi, of Larson, Minn., last Sunday, to be "culpably negligent" and recommended that he be held to the grand jury.

Police who arrested Guilford testified that they smelled intoxicating liquor on his breath and witnesses estimated the speed of his automobile variously from 35 to 70 miles an hour.

Pending arraignment for second degree manslaughter, Guilford is being held without bail.

FIND AUTO DRIVER NEGLIGENT

Duluth, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A coroner's jury today found Floyd H. Guibord, driver of the automobile which struck and killed Mrs. Frederick Tuomi, of Larson, Minn., last Sunday, to be "culpably negligent" and recommended that he be held to the grand jury.

Police who arrested Guibord testified that they smelled intoxicating liquor on his breath and witnesses estimated the speed of his automobile variously from 35 to 70 miles an hour.

Pending arraignment for second degree manslaughter, Guibord is being held without bail.

Clean, Moist, Circulating, Warm Air in Your Home Is the Best Health Insurance You Can Buy

The Holland Heating System provides a healthy atmosphere in your home by supplying fresh and clean, circulating, warm air, containing the proper degree of humidity and an abundance of oxygen. Cold air is drawn off the walls and warm air supplied to the room. There are no "floor drafts" to cause your children to catch cold, as the temperature between the floor and a man's head does not vary three degrees in comparison with an eight to ten-degree variance in other heating systems. Instead of the usual chalk-dry hot air, a warm, moist atmosphere is insured by the Humidifier, a patent Holland feature, which also Steams the Coal as It Is Burned—forcing combustion and eliminating smoke.

The Holland System guarantees even distribution of healthy heat—no one room can be cold and dangerous to health and comfort in a Holland Heated Home, no matter how hard it is to heat with the system you now have—That's Guaranteed!

Burns Any Fuel—Saves Its Cost

Holland Furnaces will burn any fuel—any grade—soft coal, hard coal, coke, or oil. No part of your heat goes into the ash pile. The Holland forces every unit of heat into your house—not into the chimney. No dust or dirt even from the cheapest fuels.

Our Ironclad Guarantee to You

The basis of correct heating is proper installation and this is absolutely guaranteed. Every Holland man from salesman to installer is employed directly by the factory. The entire factory and sales organization stand solidly behind every sale. You must be entirely satisfied before we are. We give you a signed contract to replace, without cost for labor or materials, any part which may prove defective. We guarantee to supply clean, moist, Healthful, circulating, warm air at the Lowest Possible Fuel Cost! No cold corners, no dirt, no dust, positively no gases or smoke—every room perfectly heated no matter how remote from the center of the house. Remember this is not just a salesman's promise but a signed bond backed by the entire resources of the Holland Furnace Company—the Largest Installers of Furnaces in the World—Directly Responsible to You!

Long Time Easy Payments

TVERAA CROWNED LAKES GOLF CHAMPION

FIERCE BATTLE IN THE FINALS OF TVERAA-BOLSTAD

WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY MRS. RALPH LITTLE

TOURNAMENT ATTRACTED ONE OF CLASSIEST GROUPS OF PLAYERS IN STATE

Art Tveraa, 18-year-old Superior club golfer of Minneapolis, defeated Lester Bolstad, his 19-year-old Armour club opponent, one up after 21 holes of fiercely contested play at the Breezy Point nine-hole course. A large gallery witnessed the play. This 10,000 Lakes Golf Tournament has attracted to these links the classiest group of golfers ever assembled at a tournament in northern Minnesota, in fact all of the best players in the state participated. After playing neck and neck through the first 18 holes for scores of 77 each, the youthful Mill City players halved two extra holes. On the third, however, Tveraa pulled himself out of a difficult position for a five. Bolstad, the champion of last year, and the national public links title holder, missed the crucial putt to drop his crown and end the match.

Mrs. Ralph Little, Interlachen, Minneapolis, present state champion, repeated her triumph of last year by defeating Mrs. William Freeman, of Chevy Chase club, Washington, D. C., 2 up and one.

The second flight was won by C.

W. Swenington, Armour Country club, Minneapolis, defeating S. B. Newhall, Minikahda club, Minneapolis, 3 and 2.

The special event was won by Charles Johnson of Breezy Point, defeating Louis Davis, 3 up and 2 to play.

The championship consolation event was won by H. W. Rinyon, Owatonna, defeating Ralph Little of the Minneapolis Golf club, 2 up.

Mrs. Edward Anderson, Minneapolis Golf club, defeated Mrs. Alex Hyde, Wichita, Kansas, 3 up and 2 to play.

Mrs. Wm. Freeman and D. N. Tallman, of Willmar, won the low gross score in the mixed foursome event with an 84.

Mrs. Frank Jaffray, Minikahda club, Minneapolis, and Sam Nelson, Interlachen club, Minneapolis, won the low net with a 78.

Atlantic Coast's Men's Championship Ocean City, N. J.—The Atlantic Coast's men's tennis championships was won by Wallace Johnson of Philadelphia. He beat Herbert L. Bowman of New York in the finals, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

William T. Tilden Back on Courts New Port, R. I.—William T. Tilden, after seven years absence from the courts of the Newport Casino, returned yesterday and after drawing a bye in the first round easily defeated Edward G. Benedict of Boston, 6-0, 6-0. William M. Johnston and Watson M. Washburn also won straight set matches.

LILLIAN CANNON BALKED BY STORM AND SICKNESS

UNCERTAINTIES OF WEATHER CAUSE HER TO GIVE UP FURTHER TRIALS THIS YEAR

DOUBLED UP WITH CRAMPS AND PAIN WAS SO BAD SHE QUIT

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Cape Gris Nez, France, Aug. 24.—Lillian Cannon, of Baltimore, whose gallant efforts to swim the English Channel this season were defeated first by storms and then by sickness announced today that she would abandon her plans to swim the channel this year.

Like Clara Belle Barrett of New Rochelle, N. Y., Lillian decided that the uncertainties of the weather so late in the season would make further efforts futile.

"I was feeling fine and really enjoying the swim," Lillian said today. "When all of a sudden I was doubled up with cramps. I fought against it, but the pain was pretty bad and I had to quit. But I still believe I can swim that channel."

She entered the water at 8:10 P. M. but abandoned the effort at 10:45 P. M., 55 minutes after she had begun to suffer with cramps and violent pains in the stomach.

Otto Komerich, German swimmer, who simultaneously attempted the swim, aided by canvas webbed canvas gloves, abandoned the attempt at midnight after having been in the water four hours and 12 minutes.

YES, indeed. Prince Albert and pipe-pleasure go together like "fair and colder," "Romeo and Juliet," "song and dance." Inseparable companions . . . in fair weather and foul. Wherever you see one, you see the other. Prince Albert means jimmy-pipe joy . . . precisely that!

P. A. is cool as picnic lemonade. Cool and consoling when problems press. Sweet and fragrant as wind-blown blossoms. Mild with a mildness that lets you smoke all you want, morning to midnight. Yet with sufficient body to let you know you are smoking. Nicely balanced!

You'll like the taste of this fine old pipe tobacco. More men have liked it than any other brand. This is a matter of record. Quality through and through. Real tobacco for real men. That's Prince Albert. Kind to your tongue and throat. Friendly in spirit and friendly in fact.

If you haven't smoked P. A., you can't possibly know how much deep-down satisfaction that old jimmy-pipe can give you. No matter how set you think you are, buy a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. Tamp a load into your pipe and take a deep drag. Good? You said it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

COUNTY STATE FAIR EXHIBIT TAKES FORM

Farmers Cooperating With County Agent E. G. Roth in Providing Samples

SHEAVES BEING PREPARED

Corn This Year is Superior in Quality and Output Over Last Year

The Crow Wing county exhibit to be entered in the State Fair competition is gradually taking shape with County Agent E. G. Roth supervising the preparation.

Eight Brainerd boys are today employed in the county agent's office, working on the preparation of sheaves for the grain exhibit.

The corn exhibit which will be included in the Crow Wing county state fair entry will be the corn exhibited at the Citizens' State bank competition last fall. It is necessary to enter last year corn because the corn this year will not be matured.

The corn this year however which will also be entered in its different stages of growth is superior to that of last year, Mr. Roth stated this morning. Among the different kinds are the Minnesota 13, Rustler White Golden Jewel, Silver King, and White Cap.

The Crow Wing County State Fair exhibit will occupy a space of 14 by 20 feet in the agriculture building.

Samples of grain for the exhibit have been donated by the following farmers: John Davis and John Schley, of Garrison; J. H. Minnar, and Lewis Magnuson, Platte Lake, Robert Fuchs, Matt Eiten, Daggett Brook; alfalfa, Nels P. Nelson, Maple Grove.

Mr. Roth left today for Davenport where he will secure potato samples.

Farmers are cooperating more than ever this year in making the exhibit a good one.

BRAINERD BOY HAD TO WORK TOO HARD; BROKE HOME TIES

Because he had to work too hard at home, Eldred Strang, 13, Brainerd, ran away from home, he told police today. Eldred was picked up following recognition through a description sent out from the sheriff's office at Brainerd shortly after he left home last Friday. He is being held by Sheriff Paul Felix for Crow Wing county authorities, who were expected here this afternoon to take the wanderer back. — Little Falls Daily Transcript.

I. N. S. MAN ENJOYS VACATION HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Karnes, New York City Vacationing at Gull River

Will Bring Back Evidence of Ability to Fish; to Mount Two Beauties

Paul H. Karnes, of New York City, in the employ of the International News Service, accompanied by his wife, have picked the Brainerd region as the ideal spot to vacation in and the same time enjoy a good fishing trip.

The party is located at Gull River where they will be for the next two weeks. Mr. Karnes chose this district for his vacation in preference to other districts for the reason that during a recent visit here on business he landed several nice fish in one afternoon.

In order that there may be no argument as to his ability as a fisherman, Mr. Karnes is having his latest catches mounted, a nine pound northern pike, and a 10 pound northern pike caught by his wife.

RETURNS FROM CAMP

Miss Alice R. Johnstone Returned Sunday From Camp Geyahi, Michigan

Miss Alice R. Johnstone returned yesterday to Brainerd from Camp Geyahi for girls, Otsego Lake, Mich., where she enjoyed a delightful outing.

Miss Johnstone was one of four councilors in nature study. Most of the girls in attendance at Camp Geyahi were from Detroit, Mich. She made the Great Lakes trip on the steamer "Tionesta."

COUNTY STATE FAIR EXHIBIT TAKES FORM

Farmers Cooperating With County Agent E. G. Roth in Providing Samples

SHEAVES BEING PREPARED

Corn This Year is Superior in Quality and Output
Over Last Year

The Crow Wing county exhibit to be entered in the State Fair competition is gradually taking shape with County Agent E. G. Roth supervising the preparation.

Eight Brainerd boys are today employed in the county agent's office, working on the preparation of sheaves for the grain exhibit.

The corn exhibit which will be included in the Crow Wing county state fair entry will be the corn exhibited at the Citizens' State bank competition last fall. It is necessary to enter last year corn because the corn this year will not be matured.

The corn this year however which will also be entered in its different stages of growth is superior to that of last year, Mr. Roth stated this morning. Among the different kinds are the Minnesota 13, Rustler White Golden Jewel, Silver King, and White Cap.

The Crow Wing County State Fair exhibit will occupy a space of 14 by 20 feet in the agriculture building.

Samples of grain for the exhibit have been donated by the following farmers: John Davis and John Schley, of Garrison; J. H. Mlinar, and Lewis Magnuson, Platte Lake, Robert Fuchs, Matt Eiten, Daggett Brook; alfalfa, Nels P. Nelson, Maple Grove.

Mr. Roth left today for Davenport where he will secure potato samples.

Farmers are cooperating more than ever this year in making the exhibit a good one.

BRAINERD BOY HAD TO WORK TOO HARD; BROKE HOME TIES

Because he had to work too hard at home, Eldred Strang, 13, Brainerd, ran away from home, he told police today. Eldred was picked up following recognition through a description sent out from the sheriff's office at Brainerd shortly after he left home last Friday. He is being held by Sheriff Paul Felix for Crow Wing county authorities, who were expected here this afternoon to take the wanderer back. — Little Falls Daily Transcript.

Two Beauties

Paul H. Karnes, of New York City, in the employ of the International News Service, accompanied by his wife, have picked the Brainerd region as the ideal spot to vacation in and the same time enjoy a good fishing trip.

The party is located at Gull River where they will be for the next two weeks. Mr. Karnes chose this district for his vacation in preference to other districts for the reason that during a recent visit here on business he landed several nice fish in one afternoon.

In order that there may be no argument as to his ability as a fisherman, Mr. Karnes is having his latest catches mounted, a nine pound northern pike, and a 10 pound northern pike caught by his wife.

Game Wednesday, 5:30 P. M.
B. A. C. vs. Seals

The B. A. C. team stepped one notch higher in the ladder of honors for the second half of the city championship race, when they defeated the Y. M. C. A. 3 to 2 in one of the fastest games of the half. The game was marked by tight playing on both sides, with the outfield of the B. A. C. doing a lion's share of the defense work, handling eight chances.

Dahlen pitched for the winners, allowing but five hits, and keeping the Y. M. C. A. in hand throughout the game. He fanned four, and walked but one. Erickson, hurling for the losers, pitched a good game also, giving seven singles, three of them by Nutting and two by Peterson.

The B. A. C. went into the lead at the start of the game, when Erickson walked, Nutting doubled, putting Erickson on third, and Uddenberg walked. Peterson popped up in front of the plate, but LeNeau hit to deep short, forcing Uddenberg at second, and scoring Erickson and Nutting. A split second difference would have meant doubling LeNeau at first, preventing the scores. Their third score came in the fifth, when Nutting singled with one down, stole second and third, and scored on Peterson's single.

J. Thompson singled in the fifth inning, with one out, and Bernard followed with a double which placed Thompson on second. Dillan's double scored both men. The Y. M. C. A. had a chance to tie the score in the last inning, when Bernard singled, stole second, went to third on Erickson's infield out, and died there when Dillan fled to Hegstad and Bollens fled to Uddenberg to end the fray.

Yesterday's Hero—Urban Shocker, New York Yankee pitcher, who was a little bit better than Emil "Dutch" Leveson, young Cleveland hurler. Shocker won the pitchers' battle 3 to 2 and the Yankees led the American league by 10 full games.

Heilmann's hits helped Detroit beat the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 1. Using a wild pitch by Marberry and Senator errors as a wedge the St. Louis Browns pried loose from a 4-4 tie in the 8th and beat Washington 8 to 4.

The Cincinnati Reds, rallying in the 9th over a tying run, and bracing in the 10th put over the winning run to defeat the New York Giants, 7 to 6.

By bunching hits in the third and fourth innings, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox 4 to 1.

The St. Louis Cardinals rested in first place in the National league by a single point as a result of yesterday's games. The Cardinals were prevented from playing by rain, while the former leading Pirates split a doubleheader with the Brooklyn Robins. Brooklyn, using the former Pirate captain, Max Carey, in centerfield, won the first game 7 to 3 and without him lost the second 10 to 2.

Indianapolis got closer to the top in the American association by defeating

CITY GOLFERS TO MATCH UP AGAINST HIBBING

BRAINERD, CROSBY AND DEER-
WOOD TO TEAM HIBBING AT
DEERWOOD SUNDAY

PAIRING FOR SEMI-FINALS IN LOCAL TOURNAMENT FOR
SUNDAY ANNOUNCED

Brainerd, Crosby and Deerwood golf players will syndicate in an attempt to defeat the much praised Hibbing golf players at a tournament to be held at Deerwood golf course on Sunday. Players from Brainerd have been selected yet. Thirty players will represent Hibbing, and the equal number will be made up from the range towns and Brainerd. The tournament will start at 1 P. M.

To allow the players to attend the tournament at Deerwood, the semi-finals of the Brainerd Country club match play tournament will start at 8:30 o'clock Sunday at the local greens, except in the cases where arrangements have been made previous to play at certain hours in the day. Spirited plays are expected in the semi-finals with players on their edge as the finals draw near.

Pairing for the matches here Sunday follow:

Championship Flight
Joe Ryan vs. E. J. Egan.
W. R. Hiller vs. John Linnemann.

First Flight
J. H. Krekelberg vs. Bert Orne.
O. A. Peterson vs. Frank Johnson.

Second Flight
F. A. Farrar vs. W. P. Tyrholm.
A. C. Weber vs. Dr. C. E. Anderson.

Third Flight
Carl Wright vs. Bob Duerr.
W. H. Cleary vs. W. E. Erickson.

Consolation Flight to Championship
J. H. Kenney vs. Don Ryan.
Cliff Russell vs. Clem Ryan.

The Saints, while the Brewers in first place and the Colonels in second place lost to the Hens and Millers respectively.

A flock of errors and a lack of hitting on the part of the Brewers, enabled the Hens to down the association leaders 6 to 3.

Three home runs were responsible for all the scoring in the game between the Colonels and the Millers. Earl Smith's homer in the sixth with one man on base gave the Millers the 3 to 1 victory.

Keeping the hits well scattered, Speece twirled the Indians to an 8 to 0 victory over the Saints.

Rain at Kansas City necessitated calling off of the game between the Blues and Senators.

MOLLA MALLORY NATIONAL CHAMPION FOR SEVENTH TIME

ELIZABETH RYAN AT

JUMPS UP AND DOWN WITH JOY
LIKE CHILD WITH
NEW DOLL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Aug. 24.—Once again Molla Bjurstedt Mallory is the "American girl" and not the "Norse woman."

When the court-worn veteran left the courts yesterday after beating Elizabeth Ryan and becoming the national champion for the seventh time, she jumped up and down like a child with a new doll and gave the crowd the widest smile she ever has shown.

She had reason to be proud of a 4-6, 6-4 and 9-7 victory but—behind her smile and her display of happiness is a story of the hardest fight an athlete ever has made to come back.

Mrs. Mallory basked in the light of a national idol until after seven hard and successful campaigns she began to slip. Then her court conquests were buried under public notice.

She was hurt in 1920 when the American Olympic committee wouldn't fight for a suspension of international rules that would permit her to play with the American team. The United States officials said she was not an American girl and that she would have to play for Norway as a Norse woman.

She was hurt even more this year when she was not named on the woman's tennis team that played in the Wightman cup matches. She went to Europe, as the association puts it, "unofficially" and she played at Wimbledon as Chick Evans did in the amateur golf championship at Muir Field—an American, yes, but an outsider.

Just a few minutes after she had won the championship at Forest Hills she remarked—"In the American girl again."

The display of courage and determination that Mrs. Mallory made in winning the third and deciding set after Miss Ryan had smashed away to a lead of four-love in games was as magnificent as anything ever seen on any field of sport.

Like Bill Roper's Princeton football teams, she couldn't be beaten because she wouldn't be beaten.

In addition to another national championship, Mrs. Mallory scored another notable conquest yesterday—She won an American gallery to her side. The crowd of 3,000 made the noise of a Yale football crowd in supporting her and for the first time in her career she responded to the crowd.

Her confidence under a strain, when she would have been breaking as Miss Ryan obviously was breaking, had a decided effect on her opponent. When the point was reached where everyone knew that one had to blow up, it was Miss Ryan who couldn't stand the strain for all of her good tennis.

As a tennis match, it was not technically brilliant, but as a fight, with Mrs. Mallory doing all of the fighting, it was superb.

JACK DEMPSEY ARRIVES AT HIS TRAINING CAMP

TOMORROW MORNING PLANS TO START PUBLIC
TRAINING

WILL HAVE WORKOUT IN GREY-
ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey has arrived at his new training camp and tomorrow morning plans to start public training at 9 o'clock with a workout in the recently abandoned Greyhound track.

Today he was to have a workout under orders of Gene Normile, manager of the champion who defends his title next month in the Municipal stadium, Philadelphia, against Gene Tunney.

Mrs. Dempsey, the former Estelle Taylor, still maintains that she is not keen to watch her husband battle, and does not plan to attend.

"A fight's a fight," says Estelle. "I don't want to see it."

The death of Rudolph Valentino was deeply felt by Dempsey and his wife. They had breakfasted with the actor in New York only a short time before he was stricken, and talked on arrival here of a projected picture that Estelle and Valentino were to make. There had been a plan that the actor come here as their guest during his expected convalescence.

Dempsey had no comment to make on suits and attachments of his property and money. They were anticipated, Normile said, adding "there's nothing more about them."

MARKET IS NERVOUS

New York, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Today's market jumped around in a fashion which kept the speculators' mind in a bewildered state. Reports were current that William C. Durant was planning a departure to Europe tonight and was selling large blocks of stock before sailing.

As a result of the rumors of various kinds which were circulated in various quarters the general industrial list displayed a constantly changing aspect. It advanced sharply at times under the leadership of General Motors only to turn downward with abruptness. Pressure was exerted against United States Steel imparting a heavy feeling to the whole industrial section.

The market closed lower.

INDICATES KU KLUX WILL TAKE HAND IN N. D. ELECTION

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Indicating that the Ku Klux Klan will take a hand in the North Dakota general election, Dr. Hiram W. Evans, of Atlanta imperial wizard, gave advice to a gathering at the state fairgrounds here.

Evans urged that Klansmen stand firm against the world court and said he was certain that North Dakota would not deviate from its fight for prohibition.

Klansmen from North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana attended a convocation here. It was estimated that 5,000 were present.

B. A. C. BOOSTS CHANCE FOR TIE FOR 1ST PLACE

DEFEATS Y. M. C. A. 3 TO 2 IN FAST GAME AT MUNICIPAL GROUNDS

DAHLEN ALLOWS ONLY 5 HITS, NUTTING GETS 2 DOUBLES AND SINGLE

Game Wednesday, 5:30 P. M.
B. A. C. vs. Seals

The B. A. C. team stepped one notch higher in the ladder of honors for the second half of the city championship race, when they defeated the Y. M. C. A. 3 to 2 in one of the fastest games of the half. The game was marked by tight playing on both sides, with the outfield of the B. A. C. doing a lion's share of the defense work, handling eight chances.

Dahlen pitched for the winners, allowing but five hits, and keeping the Y. M. C. A. in hand throughout the game. He fanned four, and walked but one. Ericsson, hurling for the losers, pitched a good game also, giving seven singles, three of them by Nutting and two by Peterson.

The B. A. C. went into the lead at the start of the game, when Erickson walked, Nutting doubled, putting Erickson on third, and Uddenberg walked. Peterson popped up in front of the plate, but LeNeau hit to deep short, forcing Uddenberg at second, and scoring Erickson and Nutting. A split second difference would have meant doubling LeNeau at first, preventing the scores. Their third score came in the fifth, when Nutting singled with one down, stole second and third, and scored on Peterson's single.

J. Thompson singled in the fifth inning, with one out, and Bernard followed with a double which placed Thompson on second. Dillan's double scored both men. The Y. M. C. A. had a chance to tie the score in the last inning, when Bernard singled, stole second, went to third on Erickson's infield out, and died there when Dillan fled to Hegstad and Bollens fled to Uddenberg to end the fray.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's Hero—Urban Shocker, New York Yankee pitcher, who was a little bit better than Emil "Dutch" Levens, young Cleveland hurler. Shocker won the pitchers' battle 3 to 2 and the Yankees led the American league by 10 full games.

Heilmann's hits helped Detroit beat the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 1.

Using a wild pitch by Marberry and Senator errors as a wedge the St. Louis Browns pried loose from a 4-4 tie in the 8th and beat Washington 8 to 4.

The Cincinnati Reds, rallying in the 9th over a tying run, and bracing in the 10th put over the winning run to defeat the New York Giants, 7 to 6.

By bunching hits in the third and fourth innings, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox 4 to 1.

The St. Louis Cardinals rested in first place in the National league by a single point as a result of yesterday's games. The Cardinals were prevented from playing by rain, while the former leading Pirates split a doubleheader with the Brooklyn Robins. Brooklyn, using the former Pirate captain, Max Carey, in centerfield, won the first game 7 to 3 and without him lost the second 10 to 2.

Indianapolis got closer to the top in the American association by defeating

CITY GOLFERS TO MATCH UP AGAINST HIBBING

BRAINERD, CROSBY AND DEER-
WOOD TO TEAM HIBBING AT
DEERWOOD SUNDAY

PAIRING FOR SEMI-FINALS IN LOCAL TOURNAMENT FOR
SUNDAY ANNOUNCED

Brainerd, Crosby and Deerwood golf players will syndicate in an attempt to defeat the much praised Hibbing golf players at a tournament to be held at Deerwood golf course on Sunday. Players from Brainerd have been selected yet. Thirty players will represent Hibbing, and the equal number will be made up from the range towns and Brainerd. The tournament will start at 1 P. M.

To allow the players to attend the tournament at Deerwood, the semi-finals of the Brainerd Country club match play tournament will start at 8:30 o'clock Sunday at the local grounds, except in the cases where arrangements have been made previous to play at certain hours in the day. Spirited plays are expected in the semi-finals with players on their edge as the finals draw near.

Pairing for the matches here Sunday follow:

Championship Flight
Joe Ryan vs. E. J. Egan.
W. R. Hiller vs. John Linnemann.

First Flight
J. H. Krekelberg vs. Bert Orne.
O. A. Peterson vs. Frank Johnson.

Second Flight
F. A. Farrar vs. W. P. Tyrholm.
A. C. Weber vs. Dr. C. E. Anderson.

Third Flight
Carl Wright vs. Bob Duerr.
W. H. Cleary vs. W. E. Erickson.

Consolation Flight to Championship
J. H. Kenney vs. Don Ryan.
Cliff Russell vs. Clem Ryan.

The Saints, while the Brewers in first place and the Colonels in second place lost to the Hens and Millers respectively.

A flock of errors and a lack of hitting on the part of the Brewers, enabled the Hens to down the association leaders 6 to 3.

Three home runs were responsible for all the scoring in the game between the Colonels and the Millers. Earl Smith's homer in the sixth with one man on base gave the Millers the 3 to 1 victory.

Keeping the hits well scattered, Speece twirled the Indians to an 8 to 0 victory over the Saints.

Rain at Kansas City necessitated calling off of the game between the Blues and Senators.

MOLLA MALLORY NATIONAL CHAMPION FOR SEVENTH TIME

LIKE CHILD WITH
NEW DOLL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Aug. 24.—Once again Molla Bjurstedt Mallory is the "American girl" and not the "Norse woman."

When the court-worn veteran left the courts yesterday after beating Elizabeth Ryan and becoming the national champion for the seventh time, she jumped up and down like a child with a new doll and gave the crowd the widest smile she ever has shown.

She had reason to be proud of a 4-6, 6-4 and 9-7 victory but—behind her smile and her display of happiness is a story of the hardest fight an athlete ever has made to come back.

Mrs. Mallory basked in the light of a national idol until after seven hard and successful campaigns she began to slip. Then her court conquests were buried from public notice.

She was hurt in 1920 when the American Olympic committee wouldn't fight for a suspension of international rules that would permit her to play with the American team. The United States officials said she was not an American girl and that she would have to play for Norway as a Norse woman.

She was hurt even more this year when she was not named on the woman's tennis team that played in the Wightman cup matches. She went to Europe, as the association puts it, "unofficially" and she played at Wimbledon as Chick Evans did in the amateur golf championship at Muir Field—an American, yes, but an outsider.

Just a few minutes after she had won the championship at Forest Hills she remarked—"In the American girl again."

The display of courage and determination that Mrs. Mallory made in winning the third and deciding set after Miss Ryan had smashed away to a lead of four-love in games was as magnificent as anything ever seen on any field of sport.

Like Bill Roper's Princeton football team, she couldn't be beaten because she wouldn't be beaten.

In addition to another national championship, Mrs. Mallory scored another notable conquest yesterday—She won an American gallery to her side. The crowd of 3,000 made the noise of a Yale football crowd in supporting her and for the first time in her career she responded to the crowd.

Her confidence under a strain, when she would have been breaking as Miss Ryan obviously was breaking, had a decided effect on her opponent. When the point was reached where everyone knew that one had to blow up, it was Miss Ryan who couldn't stand the strain for all of her good tennis.

As a tennis match, it was not technically brilliant, but as a fight, with Mrs. Mallory doing all of the fighting, it was superb.

JACK DEMPSEY ARRIVES AT HIS TRAINING CAMP

START PUBLIC
TRAINING

ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey has arrived at his new training camp and tomorrow morning plans to start public training at 9 o'clock with a workout in the recently abandoned Greyhound track.

Today he was to have a workout under orders of Gene Normile, manager of the champion who defends his title next month in the Municipal stadium, Philadelphia, against Gene Tunney.

Mrs. Dempsey, the former Estelle Taylor, still maintains that she is not keen to watch her husband battle, and does not plan to attend.

"A fight's a fight," says Estelle. "I don't want to see it."

The death of Rudolph Valentino was deeply felt by Dempsey and his wife. They had breakfasted with the actor in New York only a short time before he was stricken, and talked on arrival here of a projected picture that Estelle and Valentino were to make. There had been a plan that the actor come here as their guest during his expected convalescence.

Dempsey had no comment to make on suits and attachments of his prop-

MARKET IS NERVOUS

New York, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Today's market jumped around in a fashion which kept the speculators' mind in a bewildered state. Reports were current that William C. Durant was planning a departure to Europe tonight and was selling large blocks of stock before sailing.

As a result of the rumors of various kinds which were circulated in various quarters the general industrial list displayed a constantly changing aspect. It advanced sharply at times under the leadership of General Motors only to turn downward with abruptness. Pressure was exerted against United States Steel imparting a heavy feeling to the whole industrial section.

INDICATES KU KLUX WILL TAKE HAND IN N. D. ELECTION

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Indicating that the Ku Klux Klan will take a hand in the North Dakota general election, Dr. Hiram W. Evans, of Atlanta, imperial wizard, gave advice to a gathering at the state fairgrounds here.

Evans urged that klansmen stand firm against the world court and said he was certain that North Dakota would not deviate from its fight for prohibition.

Klansmen from North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana attended a conclave here. It was estimated that 5,000 were present.

"Karnak Is a Mile Ahead Of 'em All" Says Okeson

"I Tell You The Way This Medicine Got To The Roots
Of My Troubles And Fixed
My Stomach Up Is Worth Telling The World About,"
Declares Minneapolis Painter

"Let me tell you, the way this Karnak got down to the roots of my troubles and fixed my stomach up is worth telling the world about—this medicine has just got 'em all beat a mile," declares B. Okeson, of 822 9th Ave., S., Minneapolis.

"My line of work is painting, and besides having indigestion, inhaling the poisons from the paint just kept my stomach on the 'bum' all the time," continues Okeson. "My appetite left me completely, and what little I forced myself to eat just lay

like lead in the pit of my
